Stout Risius Ross Paves the Way for Student Memberships in Federal Bar Association – Northern District of Ohio

Financial Advisory Firm Underwrites Membership Costs for Law Students

CLEVELAND, OHIO – Thanks to the generosity of Cleveland-based financial advisory firm Stout Risius Ross, Inc. (SRR), law students throughout Northern Ohio can take full advantage of the networking and learning opportunities afforded by membership in the Federal Bar Association – Northern District of Ohio Chapter without putting a dent in their budget. Under a new program that began September 1, SRR will underwrite the cost for law students at Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland-Marshall College of Law, the University of Akron and the University of Toledo to become Law Student Associate Members of the FBA.

“A membership in the Federal Bar Association provides the opportunity to network with some of the region’s leading attorneys and federal judges,” said Diana Thimmig, president of the chapter. “A free membership for law students gives them a career-development opportunity that truly is priceless. We are very grateful to our friends at Stout Risius Ross for underwriting this important initiative.” Currently, the FBA includes 234 law student members.

The Federal Bar Association – Northern District of Ohio Chapter is a professional organization for attorneys and members of the judiciary who practice in the federal system or have an interest in federal law. FBA is committed to strengthening the federal legal system and administration of justice
